RULES AND REGULATIONS

STATE LAW AND FREE TEXTBOOKS

The State of Tennessee requires that each school system loan, free of charge to any student, textbooks in the quantities necessary to carry out the instructional program. It is generally understood that if textbook assignments are required to complete satisfactorily the academic requirements of an approved course of study, then such textbooks shall be provided. All textbook purchases will be made through the Central Office. Textbooks may not be sold.

No school shall require a pupil to pay a deposit on any textbook or require book covers unless they are furnished by the school.

RESPONSIBILITIES FOR TEXTBOOK PROGRAM

The principal of each school will be totally responsible for the in-school program. The Central Office will coordinate the total program with the principal. Special needs should be submitted in writing to the textbook supervisor.

Each principal will maintain a separate and complete file for textbook records, correspondence, and forms. Each principal will maintain accurate records of the number of books on hand, books received, and books returned. Each principal will keep an accurate record of lost books and damage fees, report same to the Central Office on the annual year-end report, remit all funds collected, and pay promptly all amounts due. (See "Closing of School" section for details.)

Each principal will provide an adequate place for storage of textbooks, which is safe, clean, well arranged, and free of insects. Care must be taken to see that textbooks do not mold while in storage. Books should not be stored on floors.

Books and book records shall be subject to inspection at any time by authorized agents of the Board of Education. It shall be the responsibility of the principal and the duty of each teacher to inspect frequently the books issued to pupils and to emphasize the proper care and handling of textbooks.

A principal may order books from the adopted list according to the distribution schedule and enrollment numbers plus extra books at the rate of two (2) per class section not to exceed twenty (20) extra books of any one title. The purpose of allowing extra books to be kept in inventory is to be able to immediately issue books to new students upon enrollment.

The principal may assign person(s) to be responsible for the book room and the issuing of the books. Teachers shall not have access to the book room.

PROCEDURES

GENERAL

Books must be distributed to pupils according to distribution schedules listed in this manual. Requests for changes to this schedule must be submitted in writing to the textbook supervisor. Justification of need should be included with request.

Teachers should personally inspect every student text used in their classes, at least once per six-week period. It is mandatory that these inspections occur a minimum of one time per semester.

Since textbooks are provided to students assigned to regular classroom teachers, they cannot be issued to the same students assigned to resource teachers. Each student should take his/her books with them to resource class.

When practical, self-contained Special Education classes may receive regular text material, but the total of all material shall not exceed the quantity of textbook material offered to other students. Normally, this amounts to one book per curriculum area per child. (See "Description and Distribution" list section).

Homebound students should be allowed to take the books issued to them home for study during convalescence. Notation should be made on checkout records that parents remain responsible for these textbooks and have initialed by parents. Teacher editions for these programs are provided to the homebound teachers. All textbooks must be returned immediately to the issuing school upon formal withdrawal from the school and/or no later than the end of each school year.

Books issued to a pupil having a contagious disease shall be burned by the principal provided such destruction has been recommended by the physician attending the child. The principal shall provide a list of destroyed books to the Central Office.

All students will return textbooks issued prior to withdrawing from school. The principal of the school from which a pupil transfers, will make an appropriate notation on the pupil's transfer data form as to whether all textbooks were returned to the school and whether any damage or lost book fees are unpaid. Records shall not be forwarded until all requirements are met.

Books destroyed or damaged beyond further use by fire or natural disaster in school buildings or private homes shall not be charged to the individual or school provided the principal of the school furnishes the Central Office a list of the books destroyed and the place and date of occurrence.

Principals will require pupils, parents or guardians to pay for lost textbooks, and they may be denied further benefits of the textbooks program until they comply fully with this requirement. This requirement may be waived in instances where the judgment of the principal is that the child is a victim of unusual circumstances. The school shall be responsible for the cost in this case. The report of lost textbooks paid for should be itemized by titles on the year-end report. (See “Closing of School” section.)

Criteria for assessing damaged textbook fines:

In order to accurately assess fines, the student and/or parent should be encouraged to make record of damage to books at the time they are assigned. The classroom teacher should keep a copy of this damage report for reference when books are returned.

- $1.00 to $4.00 (highlighting, underlining, marking on pages, slightly torn pages; reusable in without repair) Damage must be beyond normal usage
- $5.00 Maximum (binding damage, heavy marking on pages or binding; reusable with minor repair)
- Full Price When book is lost or damage to the extent that it cannot be reissued (SEE FORMULA BELOW)

Lost textbooks, in current adoption, are charged according to a depreciation formula based on full price less 10% for each year of use regardless of adoption contract year. In order to accomplish this you should code the student textbook receipt form with number of years used in the same column with condition of book.

Teachers must check each book upon issuance and determine condition—New or Used. Book condition and years must be documented on student textbook receipt form.

Years Used	Textbook Receipt Code	Price
First	N-1	100%
Second	U-2	90%
Third	U-3	80%
Fourth	U-4	70%
Fifth	U-5	60%
Sixth	U-6	50%

NOTE: Books are occasionally used by more than one student during the same school year. Charge according to the number of years book has been used, not by how many students have used it.

Textbooks damaged beyond usability and fines collected for total cost should be receipted and prominent notation made on the inside cover of the textbook. These textbooks become the property of the student or parent and possession should be with the student or parent. DO NOT return these textbooks to the book room or place these textbooks in the bindery or discard boxes.

OPENING OF SCHOOLS

Prior to distribution of any textbooks, including teacher editions, inventory all textbooks and verify totals on Textbook Inventory and Distribution Form. Correct these totals as necessary and notify Central Office of any and all changes.

Teacher editions may be distributed as soon after opening inventory as desired. Teachers shall not have access to the book room.

Requisition of student textbooks by the teacher must be made on Teacher Requisition for Books Form properly filled out, in triplicate, and delivered to the book room coordinator. Totals requisitioned must coincide with classroom enrollment. Teachers are not to store extra textbooks in their classrooms.

Upon issuance of student textbooks, Student Textbook Receipt Form must be completed in triplicate and sent home for the parent's signature. The teacher retains the third copy of this form at the time of issuance. The parent signs and returns the first copy for the principal's file and retains the second copy. At the time of issuance of high school textbooks, the teacher will require the student to sign across the face of the receipt. Elementary schools (K-8) use one form per student; high schools (9-12) issue a separate form with each book.

The teacher, upon issuing a book, shall write, in ink, the student's name, school, date, and condition of textbook. (See "Fines Criteria" section for condition). Each teacher shall keep a record of the books issued by individual textbook number and condition of book. The teacher's copies of the Textbook Receipt Form will be sufficient.

Each teacher shall be issued a Lost Textbook List. The teacher must keep this form current.

It is very important that teachers, at the time of issuance of textbooks, emphasize the proper care and handling of textbooks and acquaint the students with the lost and damaged fines procedures.

When an overage of textbooks occurs in the classroom, they should be immediately returned to the book room. Do not store extra textbooks in the classroom.

The issuance of textbooks must be handled professionally, using the proper procedures and forms.

The textbook supervisor will request an inventory of books remaining in the book room, after all students are assigned books. This "On the Shelf" count should include all books not assigned to students regardless of whether the books are in the bookroom or not.

ORDERING

Requisitions for additional textbooks must be made by the principal and book room coordinator only. Requisition for Textbooks Form must be typed in triplicate and include stock number, grade, title of book, and copies requested, and signed by the principal. Retain the yellow copy and forward two copies to the Central Office.

Upon receipt of two copies of the requisition, the Central Office will verify need for additional textbooks based upon enrollment and stock status.

Warehouse will deliver requisitioned textbooks on regularly scheduled delivery route. Check packing list with yellow copy of requisition form retained by school to verify completion of order. Discrepancies should be reported immediately to the Central Office.

Central Office may change requisition form due to lack of stock or inability to justify need for additional textbooks.

It is very important that all receipts of forms and correspondence be filed promptly and kept in an orderly manner. Justification of school textbook stock for the year-end report depends entirely on accurate records.

When returning textbooks to warehouse stock, voluntarily or by Central Office request, use textbook requisition form typed in triplicate including stock number, grade, title, copies requested (returned) and the principal's signature. Hand print, in bold letters, "RETURN TO STOCK" across the requisition form. Retain the yellow copy for your files and adjust your inventory accordingly. Send the blue copy with the boxed textbooks marked "RETURN TO STOCK" to the warehouse. Forward the white copy to the Central Office.

Central Office requests for return of textbooks to stock will be made based upon system needs and the individual school enrollment vs. surplus inventory.

Transferring textbooks from one school to another will be done by Central Office request only. Schools shall not request textbooks from other schools. Upon request from the Central Office to transfer books to another school, use textbook requisition form typed in triplicate including stock number, grade, title, copies requested (transferred) and the principal's signature. Hand print, in bold letters, "TRANSFERRED TO..." (name of school) across the requisition form. Retain the yellow copy for your files and adjust your inventory accordingly. Send the blue copy with the boxed textbooks marked "TRANSFER TO..." (name of school/textbook coordinator). Forward the white copy to the Central Office.

To facilitate "RETURN TO STOCK" and "TRANSFER TO..." processes, principals or textbook coordinators will provide Central Office with an "On the Shelf" inventory by September 1. This is a count of all books not in use. Do not deduct the surplus amount from this count.

Upon receiving transferred textbooks from another school, retain the blue copy for your files and adjust your inventory accordingly.

When ordering, returning or transferring textbooks, it is vitally important that the proper procedures and forms are used and filed properly.

Only officially adopted textbooks will be used as basal text and furnished by the system.

NOTE:

Textbooks can be ordered online just as any other warehouse item, and you will not need to use the TEXTBOOK REQUISITION form for regular textbook requests. Do not discard these forms as they may be used in some special circumstances.

CLOSING OF SCHOOLS

Final report cards shall be held until students clear all textbook fines (lost or damaged). When checking in student textbooks, teachers shall use the fines criteria explained in this manual, and, therefore, should be aware of fines and lost textbook procedures. (See “General Procedures” section.)

No student textbooks should be checked in to teachers prior to the last week of school.

As teachers check in student textbooks, they should make a notation in the text as to returned condition. (See the Conditions Description in the “General Procedures” section.)

It is suggested, that, on the high school level, teachers check in textbooks on final exam day. Teachers should use their opening of school records, kept by individual textbook number, to assess fines. Fines should only be assessed at this time, a notation made to the student and parent, and the fines and lost textbook list submitted to the principal.

Collections for fines and lost textbooks should be made through the principal’s office only. Students should not be excluded from exams due to textbook fines. Textbooks damaged beyond usability and fines collected for total cost should be receipted and prominent notation made on the inside cover of the textbook. These textbooks become the property of the student or parent and possession should be with the student or parent. DO NOT return these textbooks to the book room or place these textbooks in bindery or discard boxes.

Textbooks, upon check-in, should be returned immediately to the textbook storage room.

The textbook room coordinator should make an actual physical inventory count and record ending inventory count on the Textbook Inventory Printout from Central Office. Student editions and teacher editions must be inventoried and recorded.

For the final textbook report, beginning inventory + orders delivered – returns/transfers = ending inventory.

Any shortages, in this total, should coincide with the lost textbooks list and books sold for damages or otherwise justified to the textbook supervisor.

Principals final textbook report should include: Textbook Inventory complete with adjusted ending inventory, Lost Textbook List (with all titles listed), Fines List (which differentiates between fines collected for damages and lost books), and a check for the total amount due. All forms necessary for final textbook report will be forwarded from the Central Office.

Principal's, upon submitting final reports, should remit all monies collected for damages and a sum equal to the cost of all textbooks lost. Textbooks lost are the difference between actual physical ending inventory and that inventory computed by the formula.

To prepare for summer textbook deliveries, check the adoption schedule for new textbooks to be delivered, pre-registration or enrollment projection totals, and allow appropriate space in the textbook storage room.

Prior to the end of warehouse deliveries for the year, box and label "Bindery" books, complete Textbook Requisition Form typed in triplicate, retain the yellow copy, send the white copy to the Central Office, box blue copy with the books and ship immediately to the warehouse. Bindery books are those separated on the inside binding or with covers broken, missing or badly torn. Textbooks in the last year of adoption will not be sent to the bindery.

Order boxes from the warehouse in quantities sufficient to box all discards for summer pick up. Discards will not be picked up and processed unless they are boxed. Schools shall not discard any textbooks locally.

Out of adoption textbooks (discards) should be boxed and labeled for inspection by used textbook purchasers. Those schools desiring to keep out of adoption textbooks should leave them shelved or stored separately.

Any special instructions regarding textbook room storage should be made by notation and posted distinctly in the textbook room.

Any special needs regarding textbooks should be submitted in writing with the principal's final textbook reports.
